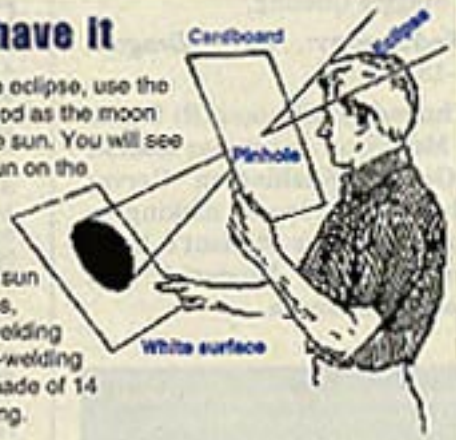
The 'eyes' have it

If you want to see the eclipse, use the pinhole-indirect method as the moon begins to obscure the sun. You will see the crescent of the sun on the white surface. Don't view the sun directly through the pinhole. Never try to view the sun through smoked glass, sunglasses, or gas welding goggles. Only an arc-welding helmet filter with a shade of 14 will permit safe viewing.



Source: 52nd Medical Group

MSgt. Brian Hibbard